A Time To Honor

We had the privilege to honor a policeman who had been in the Uganda Police Force for over 50 years. I met Andrew Agaba many years ago and really enjoyed listening to his stories of coups and life under Idi Amin and many other scary situations. What I found was that he had been faithful through all those years.

On May 1, we had a special recognition service for him and gave him a nice award to remember his faithfulness by. At the same time we had over 30 police officers in the service and we gave each one of them a Bible and thanked them for their service. What an opportunity the Lord has given us to minister to the police here in Uganda. Please pray that this police ministry which includes preaching in the jails and preaching to the police assembly every Monday will result in much fruit for the Lord.

A Time To Say Goodbye

There comes a time when we have to say goodbye to our children. It can be a lot more difficult for missionaries who have to say goodbye and then return back to the mission field on the other side of the world.

Marcus finished his high school last year but decided to wait for Kendra to finish so they could go back to the States together.

In May, Keila and I took Marcus and Kendra back to the US. We accompanied them to help get them settled in the "foreign country" of America. They had the opportunity to participate in a graduation ceremony before settling in Eaton, OH where my brother, Andrew, is pastoring and also where my parents are serving. They had to get a place to rent, drivers licenses (which is not easy for someone just arriving in America), vehicle insurance, a job, a bank account and many other things.

We thank the Lord for the way they have been able to adapt to life in the US, although I know it is still a challenge for them. They plan to attend Heartland Baptist Bible College in the fall.

Please pray for them as they continue to adjust, involve themselves in the ministry at my brother's church, and make all the necessary preparations for college.

Unfortunately while in the States, I misplaced my passport and that extended our stay about three weeks. We praise the Lord for how He moved in many different ways to help us during this unusual time of transition, trials, and new beginnings.

We are happy to report that the work in Uganda continued well as we were in the States for these weeks.
